

1.37.11.1: The Blackout, The Disconnection From the Galaxy and a Call To Awakening

Dear Synchronauts,

On April 28, 2025 (Kali 25, of the 10th Moon of Year 37), Spain experienced a massive power outage that paralyzed trains, airplanes, hospitals, transportation systems, and homes. Although the toll was five fatalities, the event exposed the extreme technological dependency of modern society. The temporary interruption of electricity triggered chaos, showing our vulnerability to the loss of basic services.

This incident does not only represent a technical failure but symbolizes a deeper disconnection: the loss of contact with our internal technology. By depending on artificial systems and measuring time using the Gregorian calendar and mechanical clocks, we have distorted the perception of real time, feeding a collective amnesia that distances us from natural synchrony and the harmonious flow of the universe.

Various prophecies have warned about events of this nature. The vision of the "three days of darkness," mentioned in writings attributed to Catholic saints such as Ana María Taigi and in interpretations of the Apocalypse, describes a period of darkness that would act as a catalyst for spiritual transformation. Although these narratives lack scientific support, they reflect a shared fear: the price of our spiritual and technological disconnection could be high.

The cosmic amnesia we suffer has roots in ancient events and forgotten history, such as the destruction of the planet Maldek, now reduced to the asteroid belt. This catastrophe caused a break in the communication network between planetary systems and the galactic center, beginning an era of forgetfulness and spiritual disconnection.

Since then, humankind has remained trapped in an artificial perception loop, ruled by technologies that do not connect us with nature but separate us from it. This artificial time has promoted a lifestyle model where productivity and possession are more valued than consciousness, creativity, and love.

But this condition is not irreversible. One of the paths to reconnection is the Synchronary of the 13 Moons, revealed by José and Lloydine Argüelles, which restores the natural harmony between humankind, the Earth, and the cosmos. This time technology tunes us into the 13:20 frequency, preparing us for the awakening of a galactic consciousness.

Humankind now finds itself, more than ever, at a crossroads. The recent blackout was not just an accident, but a warning, an echo of what could come. The possibility of a global three-day blackout, as suggested by several prophetic texts, should not be taken as just a legend. Although we do not know for certain if it will happen, the very possibility should push us to develop a deeper inner preparation, based on clarity and spiritual strength, not fear.

What would happen if, for three days, there was no electricity, no internet, no external communication, and every human being was left alone with themselves, without interference? For many, it would be chaos. For others, it would be an opportunity to feel, to listen, to see... to remember.

Hoy, al iniciar la Luna 11 del Sincronario, la Luna de la Liberación, se abre un portal poderoso para que cada alma que lo sienta pueda liberarse del tiempo artificial, de la dependencia tecnológica, y de los programas de olvido impuestos por el sistema. Liberarse es recordar. Liberarse es volver a vibrar con el corazón del Sol y las frecuencias del Universo.

Prepárate. Sintoniza. Recuerda. El apagón no fue una casualidad. Fue una señal. La desconexión con la galaxia tiene fecha de caducidad. Y el despertar, aunque no todos lo elijan, ya ha comenzado.

Atentamente,
Maya Galáctico 999.
